

Brett T. "Biff" Robertson,

54, St. Paul, formerly of Nett Lake, passed away at Fairview University Hospital in Minneapolis on Thursday, September 4, 2014. He was born on December 16, 1959 in Cook, the son of Orvel and Barbara (Drift) Robertson. He spent early years in Nett Lake, then moved with his family to Minneapolis. Known to his family and friends as "Biff", he went to school at Phillips Junior, then South Senior High School, both in Minneapolis. He faithfully served his country in the U.S. Marine Corps. After his tour of duty, he began studies at a cabinetry school in Rochester, Minnesota. A motorcycle accident in 1986 disabled him. He completed rehabilitation treatments at the Courage Center in Duluth and rehabilitation centers in Minneapolis. Biff liked being on the computer and also into music. Prior to his accident, his family fondly recalls that he was always busy and liked all things outdoors. His parents precede him in death. Biff is survived by his sisters, Lu Ann Drift and Roberta Drift both of Nett Lake, Toni Lindgren of Virginia, Nadine Luecken of Gheen, Laura (David) Manuel of Red Lake and Kay (Curtis) Palmer of Indian Point-Orr; along with numerous nieces and nephews.
